POLITICAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Jan. 26th will be the 50th anniversary of Michigan's admission to the Union.

John Ronch, the famous ship-builder, died at 8 o'clock last Monday morning.

The spectacle of Judge Chipman, democratic member of Congress elected from the first district of Michigan, being manfully drunk in court, as reported by the Detroit journals, must have been an interesting one to his constituents and friends.

The unveiling of Charles M. Stocking's moral foibles, is the most startling event to which Detroit society has been treated for many a year. It is but another proof of the ease with which villainous hypocrisies can cover their true nature and impose upon good people, when they conceal their beastly inclinations under the garb of piety and philanthropy. It would be well if the worthy Christian people of our community, before they give unbounded support to outsiders who stray into the church organizations, would employ a good detective to investigate the character of the applicant for prominence and endorsement. —Det. Com. Advertiser.

The awful disaster on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, reported elsewhere, was undoubtedly the direct effect of intoxicating liquor. It is almost certain that not only the engineer of the freight engine but other train hands as well were, if not drunk, made utterly incapable of attending to their responsible duties by the sense-destroying influence of alcoholic drinks. It is a terrible responsibility to shift on the shoulders of the liquor traffic; it is a responsibility that rightly belongs on those who, being themselves temperate, yet aid and endorse, or at least do not discountenance the business, that through one of its agents and patrons has committed such a wholesale murder. —Detroit Commercial Advertiser.

Algiers, Louisiana, like Detroit, has its eccentric judge whose conduct provokes public comment. His name is Mooney, and "mooney" not only rhymes, but is supposed to be connected as a cause, with "lunacy." He has a playful habit of getting drunk, shooting holes in the windows of private residences, breaking into stores and houses at midnight for the fun of the thing, and going to bed with his boots on, and when other means of amusement fail him he sometimes captures a milk wagon and drives madly through the streets. In the netting asking him to resign and clear out his conduct is described as "hoodlumsitic."

Stockbridge for Senator.

The nomination of the Hon. Francis B. Stockbridge for United States senator by the republicans of the legislature, in caucus assembled last night, was accomplished with little opposition. The contest was spirited but entirely friendly from first to last, and the result was accepted by the friends and supporters of the other candidates with the best of feeling. We congratulate the republicans at Lansing upon their harmonious action and the happy result. They have now only to meet in joint convention at the appointed time and ratify their own action to finish this part of their session's work. They have heeded the wishes of their party in the preservation of party harmony and have nominated a man for United States senator who will honor his party and his state.

The nominee is a man of acknowledged business sagacity and sterling integrity, and it is a matter of just pride that he has been the "architect of his own fortune," in every sense of the term. His knowledge of public affairs and of the great and diversified interests and resources of the state comes from practical experience as well as intelligent observation. He has served the state with distinction in both branches of the legislature and has filled other positions of trust and responsibility with marked ability and credit. Largely identified with the industrial interests of the state he has thoroughly familiarized himself with its conditions and its wants as well as its people. In both private and public life his record has been without a blemish, and his generosity, his genial manners and solid good sense are characteristics peculiarly his. A man of fine physique, commanding presence, and generous impulses, ever ready with a kind and an extended hand, it is needless to add that his popularity is well deserved.

At the age of 59 he still retains the vigor and endurance of younger manhood, and when called to his new duties he will bring to them that intelligence and discretion which years of practical experience with the affairs of the world have so fully developed and ripened. —Detroit Tribune.

A Slight Reminding One of the Era of Cass River Cork Yino.

The memory of many people runs back to the days when Cass river pine was king on the Saginaw river, and the fact that stock was the product of that stream was a sufficient endorsement to make it a marketable commodity in any lumber center in the land. But the Cass river has ceased to exist practically as a log producing stream, only 5,500,000 feet coming therefrom during the past season of 1886, and it can therefore no longer be depended on to "sweeten" the lumber products on the Saginaw river. In "ye ancient times" when this stock was abundant, the plan of log harvesting in vogue at that time would be considered "wild waste," because nothing was put into the stream but such as was virtually free from limbs and shakes; and this was a great factor in its desirable quality, logs running two to the thousand being not uncommon by any means.

But talking of "sweetening" the product in this market reminds us that there is at present piled on one of the docks in this city, and in course of manufacture, a quantity of lumber, which, when the logs will all have been transformed into the commodity, will aggregate about 8,000,000, nearly 1,000,000 being already in pile, which is fully equal to the Cass river stock of its palmy days. It is the admirer of all admirers, not only among our own lumbermen, but also among the buyers who come here; and it is visited daily by people who can appreciate a good thing of the kind when they see it, and the inevitable exclamation after an examination is, "that beats anything in the lumber line that I have ever seen."

This lumber is being cut at present with a band saw at the mill of Geo. G. Myers, in South Bay City, the logs coming by rail from Grayling, and are the property of Salling, Hanson & Co. The logs are brought down on the Michigan Central railroad and average 24 to the thousand feet, nothing coming here but center logs, except occasionally a butt which is entirely free from shakes, but the butts and top logs are kept back. The logs which are at present lying in the mill yard are worth going miles to gaze upon, being so uniform in size, and so excellent in quality.

But the lumber piles are what catch the eye of an experienced handler of the product, and make a reporter green with envy, who knows a good thing of the kind when he sees it, but whose finances are a bar to his acquiring more than a board or two of it at a time, providing he should feel inclined to invest in such an expensive luxury. The lumber being manufactured with a band saw makes it especially smooth and adds to its appearance as it must also to its worth. Think of three or four inch lumber, if you please, running as high as forty-three inches wide, without a blemish, and you can form some conception of this stock. The thick lumber, of course, is the choice; and averages 90 per cent to uppers. The entire lot is good width and it will average fifteen feet in length.

There is at present in pile 571,540 feet and in order to give an idea of how it runs, we secured a list from the inspector, showing the grades in a much more satisfactory manner than we could do ourselves by any other method of description. Here it is:

	Feet.
1 in. uppers.	1,532
3 in. uppers.	92,892
2 1/2 in. uppers.	641
2 in. uppers.	116,070
1 1/2 in. uppers.	241,523
1 in. good slabs.	71,488
1 in. good slabs.	316,259
1 in. mill cuts.	68,900
3x12 bracket planks.	82,149

Total 871,540

On inquiry we ascertained that this lumber is for sale, either to be shipped by rail this winter or by vessel in the spring. The price asked for it, we understand, is $28 per thousand, straight measure, and it is undoubtedly well worth the price, taking into consideration the market quotations for the past year, but we understand that it can be purchased under the regular Saginaw yard assortment; but parties who are inclined to look it up can doubtless be gratified by addressing the owners, Salling, Hanson & Co., at Grayling, Mich. —Bay City Tribune.

The Incentive to Own a Home.

The Manufacturer and Builder thinks that the man who is working to secure a small piece of property substitutes a new and distinct ambition for a remote and vague one. Day dreams about large estates and princely incomes may be very amusing, but they are not half so profitable as a vision of a lot 100x200, with a snug little dwelling house upon it. With this before him, a man will rise early and retire late, turning his hand cheerfully to any and every kind of work. He will have a motive for rigorous economy which will make it a pleasure. He will have the vision of the last payment before him as a perpetual motive to moderation in passions, economy in expenses, abstinence from expensive pleasures and from expensive companions. Thus it will come to pass that judicious debt, incurred at the beginning of a journeyman's or laborer's career, will become the good genius, watching over him, inciting him to all industry and to self-government. Every laboring man ought to own his house. The first duty of the working man should be to convert his earnings into real estate.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8, '87.

Washington is covered with a mid-winter myrtle of white snow, but the gay world of fashion is in motion once more, and up at the Capitol you hear much about tariff reduction plans and an extra session. The president has become alarmed at the condition of affairs in his party in congress, and realizes the necessity of doing something as soon as possible. It is said Senator Vest and S. S. Cox will be his mouthpieces in each end of the Capitol to get the tariff question again up for discussion. If they fail, the president threatens to call an extra session of the Fifty-fifth Congress upon the expiration of this, hoping that it may carry out his wishes.

Representative Mills of Texas, and Cox of New York, will be the rival candidates for the chairmanship of the Ways and Means committee in the Fifty-fifth congress, and the result will indicate whether it is the disposition of the party to adopt a bold and aggressive tariff policy or one more conciliatory. As to the republicans and tariff reform, for the remainder of this session, the members of the Ways and Means committee have decided to adopt as a platform a revenue bill which favors a reduction of internal revenue and an "adjustment" of tariff.

Attorney General Garland, who had not been in the Senate chamber since the Pan Electric investigation, attended the Logan funeral in company with the other members of the Cabinet. It is claimed that Mr. Garland is not harassed by the criticism upon him which appears in print, for the reason that he knows nothing about them, as he does not read the newspapers, and is consequently ignorant of what is said and thought in the world.

Public printer Benedict, who has made himself notorious by the wholesale discharge of employees in his department, will soon be tried in the future to see if he himself is not wanting. Representative Farquhar, on the part of the printer's union of New York, is conducting the fight against his confinement in the Senate. Opposition to him is based upon the grounds that he is not a "practical" printer, which the law stipulates a public printer shall be. Mr. Farquhar argued that unless Mr. Benedict could earn the average wages in a composing room, he could not be considered a practical printer. This he said, would be rating a practical printer very low.

A few days ago Senator Mitchell, of Pennsylvania, asked the senate to pass a bill giving a pension of $2,000 a year to the widow of Senator Logan. The bill failed then through the interference of Senator Coke, of Texas, but yesterday it was brought to a vote and passed by a large majority.

It is probable that a new inauguration day will be determined upon by congress. Last June the senate voted to extend the president's term of office to the last Tuesday in April, and also to substitute the last Tuesday in April for the fourth of March as the commencement and termination of the official terms of Vice Presidents, Senators and Representatives. Some of the reasons given for this change were that the first president was inaugurated on the 30th of April, that it would be a fitting celebration of Geo. Washington's inauguration to inaugurate the president in 1889 upon the same day, and that the fourth of March as the day for installing a new government unduly curtailed the second session of every congress.

In the house of representatives this resolution passed by the senate, came in contact with the Civil resolution. This proposed that the term of the Fifty-fifth congress shall end on Dec. 31st at noon; that the Fifty-first congress shall meet immediately thereafter, and that the meeting day of each succeeding congress shall be the second Tuesday in January. Mr. Craik's plan would bring the Fifty-first congress together about two months after the members had been elected, instead of thirteen months, as is now the case. It shortens the term of the next congress two months, but it affords all future congresses an opportunity for sessions of twelve months if desirable. The senate proposition adds one month to the second session of each term. The house Judiciary Committee is now considering both of these plans and it is thought they will report a resolution combining the best points in both.

General Sherman was not committed when asked about an alleged correspondence between himself and Mr. Blaine, in which the latter offered to personally support him for the presidential nomination in 1884. "If any such letters exist," suggested the old soldier, "it will be too much for me to publish them after Mr. Blaine and I have passed away." Just before General Sherman was retired, he was heard to say, one day at the War Department, that he had no political ambition. "I have had enough to satisfy a soldier's ambition," added he, "why should I attempt to get the presidency?"

Remember that no man does as much for your town as the local newspaper. Every paper sent out is an advertisement of the business, the resources and enterprises of the place; and the people get a better idea from the local paper than from any other source. —Exchange.

What True Merit Will Do.

The unprecedented sale of Bosche's German Syrup within a few years, has astonished the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for the speedy and effectual cure of Coughs, Colds and the severest Lung Troubles. It acts on an entirely different principle from the usual prescriptions given by Physicians, as it does not dry up a Cough and leave the disease still in the system, but on the contrary removes the cause of the trouble, heals the parts affected and cures them in a purely healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when these diseases make their appearance will save doctor's bills and a long spell of serious illness. A trial will convince you of these facts. It is positively sold by all Druggists and general dealers in the land. Price 75 cents, large bottles.

The only persons who have no words of kindness and praise for John A. Logan are the magwumps. They find fault with his rhetoric and his stalwart republican faith. Even the democrats, from the president down, speak of him as a great patriot, a gallant soldier and a statesman of broad views and unimpeachable honesty. But these do not count with the magwumps against his stout devotion to the Union and his fealty to the party which he joined when the Union was in danger. —Madison.

ANOTHER SUDDEN DEATH.

Hardly a week passes without the mention by newspapers of sudden deaths, and of late the alarming frequency of the statement that death was caused by rheumatism or neuralgia of the heart cannot fail to have been noticed. In all probability many deaths attributed to heart disease are caused by these nervous diseases, which are far more dangerous than is generally considered. Is there any positive cure? The best answer to such a question is given by those who have been cured by the use of Atthophoros.

Mrs. Carrie Lee, Kenosha, Wis., says: "I don't believe any one ever suffered with rheumatism as I did and lived; in fact neither I nor my husband expected to see me walk about again, and at times I despaired of my life. I was stricken during the month of January. I had taken a severe cold in 1885 on my way to Chicago; I had returned home, when one evening I was taken so suddenly that in a few minutes I lay on my back. I was so prostrated that I could not be carried to my bed room, where I remained until the following May. During the interval of January and May the suffering I bore could not be described. I was treated by the best physicians, and had different operations in connection without any material change. My arms and limbs were drawn in such shape that I could not lie down, and was helpless to assist myself in any way. I was in the constant care of a nurse both night and day. One of the nurses I had applied empuroids, but that was a failure. I commenced taking Atthophoros, and could feel its effects upon me as soon as I commenced taking it. It was certainly marvelous. I was soon able to straighten my limbs, and when I had taken five bottles I was free from rheumatism. Every doctor should keep Atthophoros and Atthophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Atthophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Atthophoros and 50c for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervous debility, indigestion, weakness, nervous prostration, etc., see our circular.

An Exchange says: Stalwart Joseph Long, of Washington, D. C., New York, was recently arraigned before Justice Murray on the complaint of his little frail-looking wife, who charged him with abandonment. "I love my wife," he said to the justice, "and she is only too welcome to share my home with me. When she is gone the place is dreary."

"What he says is true, judge," said the wife, "but I would like to tell you my reason."

"Well, tell it then." "I was afraid he would crush me to death," said the wife in a whisper to Justice Murray. "When he would come home from his day's work he would gather me up in his arms and hug me so tightly that he would take all my breath away; that made me subject to headache. A little hugging is quite pleasant, but the way he does it is too much. No woman can stand it. I'm his third wife, and they tell me that his other two wives got divorced from him for the same reason."

Notwithstanding the wife's objections Justice Murray decided that she must live with her husband.

An End to Bone Scraping.

Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Having had a running sore on my leg for eight years, my doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or let amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucklin's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well."

Good Results in Every Case.

D. A. Bradford, wholesale paper dealer of Chattanooga, Tenn., writes that he was seriously afflicted with a severe cold that settled on his lungs; had tried many remedies without benefit. Being induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, did so and was entirely cured by use of a few bottles. Since which he has used it in his family for all Coughs and Colds with best results. This is the experience of thousands whose lives have been saved by this Wonderful Discovery. A superstitious subscriber, says one of our exchanges, who found a spider

in his paper, wants to know if it is considered a bad omen. Nothing of the kind. The spider was merely looking over the columns of the paper to see who was not advertising, so that it could spin its web across his shop

door and be free from disturbance.

John Karhunen, a Finlander, took much "fuss" in his life; last Saturday, went to the wrong house, was chased under the porch of another house, and was dragged out by placing a chair around him underneath

his arms; carried to the cooler, kept until Monday morning, when the justice fined him $5.00 and costs, which he paid had went on his way rejoicing.

This is the time of the year to ply

up. Every one who has his fluens should settle his small debts. If you pay the printer what you owe him,

your printer can pay the grocer, and

the grocer the butcher and the butcher

his wife's millinery bill. Thus one good deed would roll along and gather good will as it proceeded, inducing general liquidation. It is a bad beginning of the new year, to start about it with the drawback of a "debit" of in-debts, which, like mosquitoes, take all the comfort out of living.

The editor of an exchange says he is a much persecuted man. The Village authorities have purchased a street

lamp and placed it where its rays fall

directly upon his neighbor's wood pile,

thus making his last resource in time

of need, too hazardous to be available.

We clip the following from the Oye-mau Herald, and some of our subscribers can make the application:

"You, delinquent, if you want to bring us some wood to pay for your paper don't let the thought come into your head for a minute that we will object to taking it. We'll do nothing of the kind. And then, we would be pleased to have you do so. We would have wood."

The postal law makes it necessary to take a newspaper and refuse to pay for it. An editor in Illinois recently brought suit against forty-three men who would not pay their subscription,

and obtained judgment in each case

for the full amount of his claim.

These twenty-eight made affidavit that they owned no more property than the law allowed them, thus preventing attachments. Then they, under a decision of the supreme court, were arrested for petty larceny, and bound over in the sum of $300. All gave bonds with the exception of six who were sent to jail.

A father can give his young son no better present than a year's reading of
